

The Printing Company will deliver the election forms again next year

13th of December 2023 – ANY Security Printing Company PLC will supply the forms for the 2024 elections.

On the 13th of December 2023, the National Election Office concluded a contract with ANY Security Printing Company PLC for the procurement of central printing products and services for the election of Members of the European Parliament, local municipality members and mayors, general election of national minority municipality members, as well as by-elections and local referendums. The net value of the contract is HUF 2.89 billion.

The Company has several decades of experience in the complete provision of election forms, related security and logistical tasks. The Printing Company will provide tamper-proof forms for voters at domestic polling stations, at foreign representations and for postal voters. The Company will also be responsible for the supply of other printing services and election supplies needed for voting.

ANY Security Printing Company